Dr. Caviness is a 1993 graduate of Tufts University School of Veterinary Medicine. The Colorado-based International Veterinary Acupuncture Society certified him in veterinary acupuncture in 1994. Since 1995, Dr. Caviness has held an academic appointment as clinical instructor at Tufts University Small Animal Hospital in Grafton, Massachusetts, where he is the only small animal instructor of acupuncture. In 1997, he became certified in animal chiropractic by the American Veterinary Chiropractic Association. He attends many seminars and conferences on complementary and alternative therapies. He is a member of the American Veterinary Medical Association, IVAS, American Holistic Veterinary Medical Association and AVCA.

His philosophy of medicine integrates conventional veterinary medicine with alternative medicine, using the benefits of both. He looks at the whole animal, home-life, nutrition and activities in evaluating health.
